

Rapid Recovery Provides Refrigerant Abatement Services at ABB / Westinghouse Plant

Chicago, Illinois – October 1, 2006 – Rapid Recovery of Chicago, an Illinois based refrigerant recovery company, completed the refrigerant abatement at the ABB / Westinghouse plant located in Bloomington, IN.

Brandenburg Industrial, once again faced with the task of various refrigerated appliances to be recovered and documented, looks to Rapid Recovery. Rapid Recovery is a leading refrigerant abatement company operating in the continental United States. Rapid Recovery has completed numerous jobs in a number of States for Brandenburg Industrial. The ABB / Westinghouse plant which closed in 1999 included over 50 refrigerated appliances as well as 20 refrigerant cylinders on site all needing to be recovered and documented according to EPA guidelines.

Rapid Recovery began on September 5 with all of the refrigerated appliances located on the roof and then moved into the building. Once inside the building the crew from Rapid Recovery moved room to room and floor by floor to locate any hidden refrigerated appliances. It took only 3 days to complete the refrigerant abatement of various refrigerated appliances located throughout the 474,000 square foot main building which housed more than a dozen smaller independent office buildings inside. There were 5 different refrigerants found on the site and over 600 lbs were recovered in all.

Paul Rhynard, of Rapid Recovery said “Our mission is to get the refrigerant recovered quickly and in the most efficient way possible. The units were spread out over a large area, and there were 5 different refrigerant types in various units to keep separate and this presents additional challenges. After we assessed the job and formed an attack plan we completed the job ahead of schedule.”

All of the units were documented and tagged with stickers stating that the refrigerant has been removed. This backup source of record keeping offered by Rapid Recovery is a real added value to their customers.
